

Sweet Dreams

Sweet dreams little one, drifting off to sleep your special ways, mommy will keep.
Your smile, your laugh, even your cry someday you might wonder why, they are deep inside my heart there's no way to even start, imagining what you mean to me the best things in life are truly free.
My love for you will always show otherwise how could you know, the joy that you have given me has made a better parent be.
A parent to you... to show you how not only for your benefit now, but someday when you are grown you'll remember the love I've shown.
The songs we sang throughout the days all of our laughs and funny ways.
As I'm amazed at how fast you grow I still can't be prepared I know, to someday watch you become a parent like me to your little one.

Copyright 2003
Christine Michaels
www.WelcomeBaby.com